SCALED MOVEMENT

Located at 50 Little Lonsdale Street Melbourne VIC 3000, our event contains three unknown monolithic concrete structures, two place on a slope and one at the flat area above. They illustrate a change of scale as they seem to slide down the slope, introducing our system of movement. Every time there is movement, the concrete blocks go through a process of changing scale. There's a movement from A to A', resulting the change of the elements scale and A' oscillating results in further change to A''.

RE-IMAGINATION DESCRIPTION

The reimagining presents this event as a set of spaces that change scale as its inhabitants move between them via the 'Circulation Platform', highlighted in red and presents a range of different forms of movement. Each is an altered version of the original space labelled as (A), their programmes differ to match the change in scale.
